3 June 2018 Corpus Christi ON MEDICINE FOR LIFE.

There can be nothing sadder than listening to someone who believes that they are not good enough to go to communion. They feel that they are unworthy and they simply stay put in their seat when the rest of the congregation gets up to eat and drink the body and blood of Christ during the celebration of Mass.

Of course none of us is good enough. That's why we say, 'Lord, I am not worthy...' just before we approach the altar. We realise that we mere human beings cannot presume to receive such a gift without acknowledging our unworthiness. But beneath this idea of unworthiness there lies a fatal error.

Communion is not for good people. It's not for saints. It's for people who are not very good, who are sinners but who want to get better. Our feast of the Body and Blood of Christ (Corpus et Sanguis Christi) teaches us that communion is not a reward but a medicine.

When we eat and drink (both!) Christ's body and blood we are signing up to be better. Some of the Church's early hymn-writers used a lovely phrase to describe the Eucharist: they called it food for the journey. An ancient hymn (O, Esca Viatorum: O, Food of Travellers) makes it clear that the Eucharist is not some celebratory picnic on the journey but is the survival rations, the stuff of life.

At the Last Supper when Jesus instituted the eucharist he commanded us to eat and drink and to do this in memory of his death and resurrection. God has made an agreement (a covenant) with us through the death and resurrection of Jesus. He will be our God and we will be his people by ratifying the covenant: by eating and drinking in memory of Jesus.

The Eucharist is our way of signing-up again and again to the promises of God, showing our renewed commitment and gratefully receiving God's gift. Saint Ignatius of Antioch called the eucharist 'the medicine of immortality, the antidote which prevents us from dying so we can live forever in Jesus Christ.' On the feast of the Body and Blood of Christ we share in communion here on earth, and we pray that one day we may be found rejoicing together at the everlasting meal of heaven.

10th Sunday - 10 June 2018

Brilliant British theologian G.K. Chesterton could not read until he was eight years old. A teacher said if his head were opened they would probably find a lump of fat where there was supposed to be a brain. That teacher was wrong.

Einstein's parents were informed by a teacher that he would never amount to anything.

Beatrix Potter's The Tale of Peter Rabbit, was rejected by seven publishers.

Richard Bach got twenty rejection slips before Jonathan Livingston Seagull was published.

Dr. Seuss, one of the most popular children's authors of all time, got more than two dozen rejection slips before The Cat in the Hat made it to print.

Ruth Graham felt an uncontrollable urge to run out of the meeting the first time she heard Billy Graham preach. She was not convinced of his preaching ability. She was put off by his preaching style. Billy had to improve his preaching before Ruth would become his wife.

Today's Gospel tells us how Jesus encountered rejection with prophetic courage.

World Meeting of Families 2018

"PLEASE", "THANK YOU", "I'M SORRY"

"Please, Thank You and I'm Sorry", are three words that Pope Francis said he "would love to write on the door of every family home."

St. Brigid's Parish recognises their value and we would like to offer them as words to live by, not only in our homes but in all the places we find ourselves: our workplaces, schools, neighborhoods, communities. While we often consider them used exclusively in terms of politeness, perhaps we forget how powerful they are when they're not only spoken but put into practice in our daily lives. What better way to put the Golden Rule of the Gospel into life and 'do unto others as you would wish them to do unto you.'

In the words of Pope Francis:

"PLEASE"

"This is the request to enter the life of another with respect and care. Courtesy enkindles love and true love does not impose itself harshly or aggressively."

"THANK YOU"

"We are in danger of becoming a society of poor manners and unpleasant words. Politeness and the capacity to thank are often seen as a sign of weakness and at times even distrust. We must all learn to practice gratitude and recognition... the dignity of the person and social justice comes from this quality put into action"

"I'M SORRY"

"When this word is lacking, small cracks become bigger, to the point of becoming deep trenches. Acknowledging our mistakes and being willing to start over by saying sorry, and asking and receiving forgiveness are immeasurable steps towards restoring respect, trust and love".

These three words are simple words, but perhaps we sometimes neglect their significance, forgetting how powerful they can be when we restore them to their rightful place in our hearts, in our homes and in our communities.

The late John O'Donohue was an Irish poet and Hegelian philosopher. His themes of echo as the response of continuity, imagination as the ability to still see the mountain behind the mist, and absence as the transformed presence of the vanished, awaken our thinking and provide food for our spiritual journey in an increasingly hungry world. One of the lines that he loved in the New Testament was: "One day you will know as you are now known."
